

What You Don't Know About Your IRA Can Hurt You

T. BRIAN HAYES

The IRA is one of the main staples of retirement planning. In fact, millions of people use IRAs to save for and provide an income in retirement. However, many people are not getting as much out of these plans as possible because they don't know as much as they should about IRAs.

IRA stands for individual retirement account. An IRA is a very flexible account because you can invest it anyway you want to, and you can customize your deposits and take withdrawals however you would like. You can even control what happens to your IRAs after you pass away and leave them to your spouse, your children, your grandchildren or any of your heirs.

According to research from the Investment Company Institute, 43.9 million U.S. households own at least one type of IRA. Traditional IRAs are the most popular and are owned by 27% of all U.S. households. Roth IRAs are the second-most popular and are owned by 19% of all U.S. households. These statistics do not include ownership of 401(k) accounts, which are employer-sponsored plans that are offered by some employers. These statistics demonstrate that millions of people are taking steps to plan for their retirement by saving money in individual accounts whether or not they also participate in employer-sponsored plans at their jobs.

So, with all these factors and benefits, it is important to know as much as you can about IRAs; you also need to know how to get all the possible benefits out of them. But, unfortunately, many people don't know everything they should, and this costs them money. Join us this weekend on The Retirement Money Matters Radio Show where we discuss this in great detail. The show airs on Saturday morning at 6 on WIBC (93.1 FM), Sunday morning at 8 on WWKI (100.5 FM) or anytime at Investment Advisory Services offered through Brookstone Capital Management LLC and Milestone Asset Management LLC, both Registered Investment Advisors. Investments and/or investment strategies involve risk including the possible loss of principal. There is no assurance that any investment strategy will achieve its objectives. This information is not intended to be used as the sole basis for financial decisions, nor should it be construed as advice designed to meet the particular needs of an individual's situation. Information provided is not intended as tax or legal advice and should not be relied on as such. You are encouraged to seek tax or legal advice from an independent professional. Content is provided by third parties for informational purposes only and is not a solicitation to buy or sell any products mentioned. Brian Hayes and/or Hayes Financial are not affiliated with or endorsed by the Social Security Administration or any other government agency.

T. BRIAN HAYES FOUNDER & PRESIDENT

T. Brian Hayes is the Founder, Owner, and CEO of Hayes Advisory Group, boasting over 30 years of experience in guiding clients towards their retirement goals. Specializing in pre-retirees and retirees, he ensures clients understand their planning options and tailors strategies to their unique needs. A strong advocate for education, Hayes regularly writes and speaks on financial topics, hosts a weekly radio show on retirement, and instructs for The Prepare Institute, a 501-3 non-profit educational institution. He holds memberships in prestigious financial organizations like The Indiana Network of Estate Planning Professionals and The National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors. Hayes is a distinguished member of the Million Dollar Roundtable (MDRT), with multiple honors recognizing his professional expertise and ethical standards. Based in Central Indiana, he serves clients across the U.S. and Canada, residing with his wife and three children.

